

FRASER LODGE,

18th February, 1982.

Professor Baroness McFarlane of Llandaff,
Department of Nursing,
Stopford Building,
UNIVERSITY of Manchester,
Oxford Road,
Manchester M13 9PT.

Dear Jean,

As you will remember, we wrote to you in December to ask if you could consider being the first external examiner for our B.Sc. in Nursing Studies, and though your reply was encouraging, you didn't actually consent. I understand that Dr. Burton, the head of our department, wrote to you in answer to the queries you raised.

I am sorry to worry you again on this question as I know you are very busy, but the proof-reading of examination papers is scheduled to take place soon and, of course, the draft questions would need to be vetted by the external examiner. Do you think you could let us have your decision on whether or not you would be prepared to act for us, so that we can make the necessary arrangements.

Yours sincerely,

Marion Ferguson,
Director of Nursing Studies