Dear Marion,

I have just learned from our Registrar that we are getting a number of enquiries asking for further details of the Nursing Studies degree but note that it says in our prospectus that further details will be available this autumn. Obviously, we shall not know much more until early next year, but in the meantime, we must say something to candidates who write to us for entry in October 1981. Do you think you could draft a brief statement about the scholarship of the degree which could be sent to candidates who ask for further details.

Roz Stanley is holding a key to your room and we have obtained a typewriter for you. We have put in a request for a filing cabinet and hopefully it will arrive in due course.

Finally, do not hesitate to let me know if I can provide you with any further information concerning the degree. I look forward to working with you next term and I am sure we will be successful in our endeavours.

With best wishes,

Yours sincerely,

Ivor Burton
