

11th February 1933.

Dear Sir Arthur,

I am very sorry to have to trouble you again about the ceremony of the Presentation of Certificates to the International Students, but I have to-day heard from Professor Jameson that June 23rd is impossible for him as he has to be in Blackpool for the Congress of the Royal Sanitary Institute on that day. We have therefore to find someone else to make the speech.

It is suggested that Sir George Buchanan, Senior Medical Officer, Ministry of Health, would be a suitable person if we could get him to come. Do you approve this proposal, and if so will you send him an invitation, or would you prefer it to go from Bedford College?

Yours very truly,

Secretary.
