Dear Dr Burton

I apologise for not contacting you sooner about the External Examiner for the 'Pathology and Therapeutics' units on the B.Sc. in Nursing Studies.

As you know, you wished me to approach Dr Andrew Herxheimer, who initially felt that he could undertake the work provided it was not excessive. However, he has had second thoughts, and feels that he is definitely over-committed in the coming year. He has kindly suggested a colleague, a Dr Joseph Laity, M.Sc. M.B.B.S., who is Senior Lecturer in Pharmacology at the Charing Cross Hospital and who is already a pre-clinical examiner for London University. I have spoken to Dr Laity and he would seem very suitable as he is used to teaching nurses therapeutics at the Charing Cross; I have arranged to meet him on Wednesday 12 January to discuss the proposed preliminary examination for the nurses on our course.

I do hope this meets with your approval. Perhaps you would like to contact me one way or the other to confirm that he will be approached officially as External Examiner.

Yours sincerely

Dr E Dean
