Dear Miss Monkhouse,

I very much regret that I shall be unable to be present at the Committee Meeting for the organisation of courses for international students on May 19th owing to a previous engagement which I find it quite impossible to cancel.

With regard to the agenda, I should like, if I might, to express my views on item No. 4. Personally I am very much against a formal examination for international students as I consider the language question constitutes an insurmountable difficulty. I think the suggestion of substituting reports on the work and progress as well as setting short test papers from time to time would be a much more satisfactory method. When looking through the last examination papers I could not help but feel that some of the students might have given quite a different account of themselves had it not been for the difficulty of both thinking and expressing themselves in another language. I should be greatly obliged if you would kindly put this view before the Committee.

Once again expressing my regret at being unable to attend.

I remain,

Yours sincerely,

Miss O.E. Monkhouse, M.B.E., B.A. (Lond.),
