The College of Nursing.

HENRIETTA STREET, CAVENDISH SQUARE, LONDON, W. 1.

19 July 1929.

Dear Miss Monkhouse,

I would acknowledge your letter of the 17th instant, to Miss Rundle, and would say that the College of Nursing will be very pleased and glad to make arrangements for the International Students of Bedford College to attend the Course of Lectures on Nutrition to be given by Professor Cowell, together with any practical demonstrations which may be arranged in connection therewith.

I have therefore, referred this matter to Miss Bowes who will make the necessary arrangements for those International Students taking this Course.

With reference to the very kind offer made by your Council to accommodate Professor Cowell in the Physiological Laboratory at Bedford College, may I say that we hope for the time being that our own accommodation will be sufficient, but if, in the future, need should arise we should be very grateful if we might be allowed to take advantage of this suggestion.

I remain,
Yours sincerely,

Francis G. Goodell.

Assistant Secretary
