Dean Goodrich to Visit Us

WE understand that Miss Annie Goodrich, D.Sc., late Dean, Yale University School of Nursing, is planning to visit Europe in the near future, and will be in London during May and June. Should these plans materialise, Bedford College and the College of Nursing, in connection with their work for international students, are hoping to include a course of lectures by Dean Goodrich in the programme of the Special Course in Public Health and General Nursing, to be held at the College of Nursing from May 27 to June 8. A warm welcome will await Dean Goodrich from her many friends in London, who no doubt will take this opportunity of organising many educational "discussions" during her stay.
