Dear Mrs Thomas,

I appear to have mislaid one of your letters and I am not therefore sure as to the number of students you are proposing for the Almoners' course in Physiology next session. I had an impression that you mentioned 10 students as being likely to avail themselves of the course, if it is held. I shall be glad to know how this stands.

I shall be able to write in a few days' time as to fee to be charged to your students.

Yours very truly,

Principal.
