

Proposal

To extend course now called "Hospital Training School Administration" to include some early history as well as recent developments and trends in other countries while still keeping the section on "Nursing School Administration" as it is now.

I propose therefore that the ~~whole course~~ ^{section} (A.3.(2)) be called "The Nursing School" and be divided into three parts:

Part A. Early history of the Nursing School
5 lectures, first term.

Part B. Nursing School Administration
15 lectures, 1st & 2nd terms.

Part C. Developments in Nursing Schools since 1920 - 5 lectures, 3rd term.

In Part C I would try and bring out comparative methods in schools that I have studied in Europe and America, making the course more "international" in character.

I propose that for those taking A.3 (Hospital and Training School Administration) only Part B need be compulsory, together with Hospital Administration, (30 lectures).

For those taking A.4. (Nursing Education) all three Parts would be compulsory, (25 lectures) and those students would also take the course in Principles of Education and Methods of Teaching.
