Dear Mr Vowles,

I am now able to reply to your letter of 29 November seeking our confirmation that we should not object to the introduction of a 4 year degree course in Nursing Studies at Bedford College to replace its existing arrangements for this subject. Having received the view of the Committee's Panel on Nursing Studies, I can confirm that we have no objection to your proceeding in this way, provided of course the university can achieve its aim within the resources available. I understand that the GNC have already given their approval.

I assume that the relevant health authorities will be consulted by the University about the provision of the clinical facilities necessary for the course.

*Yours sincerely,
Gifford Lewis.*
